Subject: Zaso Testimony: Emails requesting access to Defender Test system

Judge Cardone and Reuben,

Attached are copies of the emails I promised to send you during the hearing. They are from Ana Marie Pauly and as you will see are for access to the test database. She also sent a second email to the DAWG explaining why she was requesting access.

Please let me know if you have any further questions or would like additional email.

Thank you [REDACTED]
Andrew Zaso

Good evening everyone,

It was brought to my attention that there is a concern about me trying to gain access to defenderData. To clarify, the defenderData region I was trying to gain access to was not the PROD region. I was trying to gain access to the TEST region which contains garbage data. Test and training regions are excellent resources for someone to learn about the system, the lingo used, and to verify/confirm coding changes prior to production implementation without having the need to ever seeing production data.

Rest assured that I am very much aware of the sensitivity surrounding the defender community's data. I do not wish, nor desire, to gain access to production region and risk the attorney-client privilege that you protect. I hope this clarification alleviate any concerns that you may have had concerning my desire to gain access to defenderData's production region.

If you have any questions or further concerns, please feel free to call me. As always, I am looking forward to working with you!

Thank you!

Ana-Marie

Brian

I am unable to access the defenderData test site. I believe I need access to the fd.org network in order for me to access dData's test regions.
